Audiological Care for Individuals with Autism

Siobhán Brennan

This presentation discusses reasonable adjustments that could be used in the Audiology clinic for individuals with Autism and relevant aspects of Audiological assessment that should be considered.

Dr. Siobhán Brennan is an Audiology Lecturer at Manchester Centre for Audiology and Deafness, University of Manchester and Lead Clinical Scientist at the Regional Department of Neurotology, Sheffield Teaching Hospitals. She has chaired various Audiology groups focused on improving practice and complex needs including the UK Hearing and Learning disabilities group and British Society of Audiology Electrophysiology (BSA) Special Interest Group. She is currently a member of the European Federation of Audiology Societies Working Group on Audiology and Intellectual Disabilities and is currently co-authoring BSA Guidelines for Audiological care for Individuals with Intellectual Disabilities.